Home-Made Levels.

This is the time of the year when the fortunate boys who are spending their vacation in the country, believe that with a little stud they could be first-class carpenters. It wi not do for them to meddle with the expensive tools in the tarm workshop, so they m fashion some themselves.

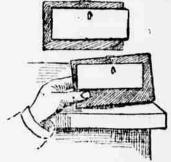

The ordinary spirit level, for example, is a costly and delicate piece of apparatus. Some little skill, too, is needed to make effective use of it, for it only indicates the level in on direction at a time. Here, on the contrary we have a little appliance which shows do viation from the horizontal in any direction and which every one can construct, regulat and use for himself.
